TF1 GROUP ANNOUNCES THE ACQUISITION OF GAMNED!

TF1 Group announces that it has taken a majority stake in Gamed!, a pioneer and expert in programmatic media, founded in 2009 by Olivier Goulon and Anthony Spinasse. By acquiring Gamed!, TF1 Group aims to leverage the qualified audiences of its new digital arm with programmatic effectiveness to develop an integrated, innovative and high-powered multi-channel advertising offer.

Taking a majority stake in Gamed! is part of a development strategy designed to enable TF1 Group to offer high-powered solutions to meet all of its advertisers' needs.

Gamed! will work with all the Group's new digital businesses. TF1 Group is looking to accelerate the development of programmatic advertising in France and Europe by extracting value from data held by its main digital entities (Aufeminin, Doctissimo, Les Numériques, Marmiton, etc) and through controlled re-exposure of its audiences beyond its own media inventory.

"We pay tribute to Gamed!'s achievements, talents and technological expertise, which will help us deliver more value from our digital assets and qualified data collected from advertisers. This will enable us to provide advertisers with optimized targeting and enrich the dialogue between our partners and web users beyond our platforms", says Gilles Pélisson, CEO of TF1 Group.

The acquisition will facilitate the development of new offers that build consumer engagement with TF1 Group brands while providing an enhanced experience.

"Gamed! has consistently disrupted the established order by producing innovative and exclusive solutions that have a real impact on our clients' bottom line. We are keen to work with TF1 Group teams to invent the future of programmatic advertising, while continuing to provide our existing clients and partners with excellent solutions and services", comments Anthony Spinasse, co-founder and COO of Gamed!

"We are very proud that by taking this substantial stake, TF1 Group acknowledges the success of Gamed!, which is the result of an enduring collective commitment, and is looking to support us as we strengthen our growth in France and internationally, in a fast-growing market", adds Olivier Goulon, co-founder and CEO de Gamed!
